

Sleep-related behaviours and headaches

About the study

Griffith University researchers invite you to participate in a study examining thoughts and behaviours about sleep, and how these may relate to headaches.

We need participants who suffer from headaches (such as migraine and tension-type headache), as well as those who don't experience regular headaches to complete a short online survey.

To find out more and to participate in the anonymous survey, please visit our website by clicking the link below.

<https://prodsurvey.rcs.griffith.edu.au/prodls200/index.php/926337?lang=en>

Start and end date

This research is currently in recruitment and will finish by September 2019.

Ethical clearance

This research has been fully approved by the Griffith University Human Research Ethics Committee (Protocol: 2018/688). If you have any concerns or complaints about the ethical conduct of this research please contact the Manager, Research Ethics and Integrity by phone on 07 3735 4375 or by sending an email to research-ethics@griffith.edu.au

Contact information

If you would like further information about this research, please contact Daniel Sullivan (PhD Candidate in Clinical Psychology) by email: daniel.sullivan5@griffithuni.edu.au

Research Team

Dr Mark Boschen Senior Lecturer in Clinical Psychology	Prof Paul Martin Adjunct Professor of Psychology	Dr Siavash Bandarian-Balooch Lecturer in Psychology	Daniel Sullivan PhD Candidate in Clinical Psychology
--	--	--	--